Mrs. Bear and Claudia's Afterschool Adventure Workbook

Student Edition

October | Grades 4-6

FARMS | PATIENCE | TEAMWORK | FALL

Open to the correct week and day. Every day contains four clearly labeled activities written for grades 4-6. October emphasizes friendly harvest, farm, fall, patience, communication, and teamwork themes.

1. READ WITH MRS. BEAR & CLAUDIA

Read the original story and answer the questions.

2. MATH CONNECTION

Complete the leveled practice and themed word problem.

3. COLOR & CREATE

Color the lesson-plan scene and follow the creative challenge.

4. WRITE OR WORD SEARCH

Alternate between written reflection and theme vocabulary.

Teachers may assign all four pages, choose two, or use the pages as centers and extension options.

The Patient Acorn

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered Mrs. Bear's autumn art table, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for what does it mean to be patient?. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia wanted her painted tree to be finished immediately. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they pause, add one leaf at a time, and notice how careful work changes the picture. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, her tree slowly filled with bright, balanced leaves. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word patient and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that patience means giving good work the time it needs."

The Tower That Took Time

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the team-building table, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for tower challenge. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia's team rushed and their first tower tipped over. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they sort the materials, sketch a wide base, and take turns adding pieces. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the rebuilt tower stood taller and stayed steady. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word stability and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that patient teams plan, test, and improve."

Claudia Visits the Learning Farm

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered a nearby teaching farm, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for what do we know about farms?. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia thought farms only had barns and animals. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they observe the fields, tools, water systems, crops, and jobs that keep the farm working. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, she drew a map showing how every part of the farm was connected. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word agriculture and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that farms are systems where people, plants, animals, and tools work together."

The Model Barn

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the construction center, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for building-brick farm challenge. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia's model had walls but no strong roof. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they compare roof shapes, reinforce the corners, and test the model gently. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the new roof protected the model animals and stayed in place. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word reinforce and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that builders improve designs by observing and testing."

Claudia Cheers for the Team

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the multipurpose room, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for rock-paper-scissors challenge. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia felt disappointed after losing the first round. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they practice good sportsmanship, cheer for the winner, and notice each player's effort. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the final match included a joyful cheering section for both players. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word sportsmanship and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that a good sport can celebrate others and keep trying."

The Gentle Rally

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the team-game area, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for bed-sheet ping pong. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet the ball kept rolling off the sheet when one side lifted too quickly. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they count together and raise or lower the sheet with gentle, even movements. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the teams kept the ball moving through ten careful passes. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word coordinate and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that shared timing can turn a hard task into teamwork."

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the carpeted activity room, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for cooperative stand-up. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia and her partner tried to stand before agreeing on a plan. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they press backs together, place feet firmly, count, and rise at the same pace. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, each pair stood safely and helped another pair practice. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word balance and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that partners succeed when they communicate and move together."

The Finished Leaf

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the fall craft center, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for Friday celebration. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia's yarn slipped from the cardboard leaf. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they secure the end with tape and wrap slowly in changing directions. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the leaf became a colorful texture for the class display. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word texture and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that careful finishing makes creative work stronger."

Claudia Plans a Balanced Pizza

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the pretend cafe, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for favorite foods and food groups. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia chose toppings without thinking about nutrition. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they sort ingredients into food groups and plan a balanced combination. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, her pizza plan included vegetables, grains, dairy, and protein. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word nutrition and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

The Message in the Middle

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the classroom circle, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for telephone game. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet the whispered sentence changed as it traveled around the group. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they speak clearly, listen carefully, and ask for repetition when rules allow. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the class compared the first and final messages and laughed kindly. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word communicate and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that clear communication depends on careful speaking and listening."

The Story Everyone Built

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the storytelling circle, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for group story. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia worried her idea would not fit the story. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they listen to the last event and add a connected character, setting, or problem. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, every contribution became part of one surprising fall adventure. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word sequence and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that group stories grow when writers listen and connect ideas."

A Tower of Straws

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the STEM table, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for straw tower challenge. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia's narrow tower leaned before it reached the ruler mark. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they widen the base, make triangle supports, and divide building jobs. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

The Quiet Fall Clue

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the fall festival classroom, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for fall charades. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia had to show 'raking leaves' without speaking. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they use clear motions, patient guesses, and encouraging reactions. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, her team solved the clue and welcomed the next actor. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word gesture and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that games stay fun when players are patient and kind."

Claudia's Cozy Tradition

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the sharing rug, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for share a fall tradition. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia wondered whether her simple family tradition was special enough. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they describe the sights, sounds, foods, and people that make it meaningful. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, classmates discovered both different and shared fall traditions. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word tradition and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that traditions connect people through meaningful memories."

The Careful Cup Relay

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the relay course, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for solo cup relay. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia knocked over a stack by racing before it was steady. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they slow down at the stacking station, check the base, and signal the next teammate. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the team finished with every cup upright. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word efficiency and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

The Juggling Pattern

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the multipurpose room, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for group juggle. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet the balls collided because the passing sequence was unclear. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they choose a fixed order, call names, and add one ball only after the pattern works. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, the group completed three rounds without a drop. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word sequence and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that complex teamwork grows from one reliable pattern."

The Harvest Celebration

A Mrs. Bear and Claudia Story

When Claudia entered the school fall festival, Mrs. Bear had already prepared the group for fall dance celebration. Claudia expected the task to be simple, yet Claudia wanted every classmate to feel included in the celebration. Her first reaction was to hurry, but that made the challenge harder.

Mrs. Bear asked Claudia to pause and study what was happening. Claudia listened to her teammates and proposed that they offer different music, quiet craft choices, movement options, and shared jobs. The group tested the idea, noticed what needed adjustment, and tried again with greater care.

This time, students joined in ways that felt comfortable and fun. Claudia realized that success did not come from one person taking control. It came from observation, respectful communication, and a shared plan. Mrs. Bear introduced the word include and invited everyone to explain how it connected to the experience.

Before leaving, Claudia wrote one sentence in the class reflection book: "Today I learned that inclusive celebrations make room for different needs."
